WHY HAS THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT RENEGED?

Can it be possible that the Canadian Government has reneged on its promise? This is the question I am still asking concerning the news that has recently come from the Paris office of the I. C. A. (Jewish Colonization Association); that the Canadian Government has informed them of its decision to refuse to admit further Jewish refugees despite the agreement which it entered into with the I. C. A. to allow the entry of 5,000 Jewish refugees. The cable received by the I. C. A. does not indicate the reasons for the action of the Government. Nor does it give any details. A wire from Mr. F. C. Blair, Acting Deputy Minister of Immigration, at Ottawa, to the Jewish Telegraphic Agency of New York, reads as follows:

"I. C. A. Paris understands fully reasons for Canadian Government action. Better secure information from them. (Signed) F. C. Blair."

The agreement which was concluded between the Canadian Government and the I. C. A last year provided for the admittance of 5,000 refugees, provided these refugees would in no way become a burden on the Canadian Government. Only some 2,900 have thus far been admitted and, as we understand it, a group of 400 left Roumania about the ninth of this month and are now on the high seas. We wonder now whether the cancellation order will apply to them. The agreement referred especially to the Jewish refugees who were in Roumania. The Roumanian Government repeatedly has postponed the expulsion of the refugees in view of the promise made by the Canadian Government to admit them.

It is providential that simultaneously with the announcement by the I. C. A. of the decision of the Canadian Government comes the news that the Argentine Government has consented to accept the remaining 2,000 refugees and others that are now stranded in the various ports of Europe whom the I. C. A. will send. Argentine is opening her doors just when Canada is shutting hers. Here is proof of the Yiddish folk-saying, "Gott shicht die Refuah far der Makeh." (God provides a cure before He afflicts).

The news conveying the action of the Canadian Government has spread rapidly. I somehow refuse to believe that it is true. I like to believe that there is a mistake somewhere. How is it possible for the Canadian Government, which was actuated by the finest humanitarian motives when it granted permission, to suddenly, without warning, renege on a contract which means life or death to thousands of innocently unfortunate human beings? I also learn that the news of the Canadian cancellation has thrown the 2,000 refugees in Roumania, who have been waiting their turn to sail, into a panic.

The I. C. A. has lived up to its side of the contract, we feel sure. We know that the Jewish communities throughout Canada have done everything to absorb the newcomers. They have been provided with homes, food, clothing, furniture and jobs, so that practically all of them are self-supporting, and not one of these people has taken positions away from Canadians or become public charges. A group of the refugees in Toronto is even preparing to settle on the land.

There is only one respect in which we have fallen down, and that is in our promise to bring over 100 a week, or 400 a month for twelve months, since last December. Our failure to comply in this respect is due to being handicapped by a shortage of funds, but surely the Canadian Government is not ready to take advantage of a mere technicality like this, where human lives are at stake. It is true that the financial assistance from the Jewish Organization in the United States for which Mr. Lyon Cohen of the I. C. A., Mr. A. Levine, the President of the Jewish Immigration Aid Society of Canada, and the writer have been pleading since last winter, has not been forthcoming in amounts large enough to be of material assistance. Yet in fairness it should be said, to the credit of the American H. I. A. S. and the Jewish Congress, that some funds have come to us, but they were not enough. The Paris I. C. A. has refused to continue to pay the ocean transportation costs after having expended about $105,000 for the first few groups, nor will it defray the heavy costs of the inland transportation. But all of this is relatively unimportant. The money could have been forthcoming, we are certain, from the Jews of Canada, who everywhere were, and are, responding cheerfully if the doors of our country would have remained open. There must be a good reason, at least we want to believe so, for the action of our Government, and before condemning or criticizing, I will wait for developments in the hope that the word of the Government will prove as good as its bond.

There is a lesson, however, in this incident for the wandering Jewish people, who persist in wondering when this wandering of exiled Israel will cease, and it is this: The Jewish people must have a Homeland, where in times of crises such as these our refugees, whom no land will have, can go for permanent settlement. Palestine can become this home for the Jewish homeless if the Jews of the world who, in the words of Dr. Weizmann, hold the golden key in their pockets, will use it to open the doors of Palestine. In Palestine the Jewish people build on a solid rock foundation; elsewhere in the Disapora we may be building on shifting sands. The Jewish people, irrespective of their attitude on political Zionism must come to a realization of this fact.

Frankly, I admit that Zionism to me is not the outcome of a mere desire to have a home for the homeless. My Zionism is implied in my philosophy of Judaism. Zionism is, in fact, to me the philosophy of Judaism. But I concede the right to everyone to conceive and define Zionism in the way that suits him best. But on this, we who are Zionists and you who are non-Zionists are agreed that Palestine is the only place on the earth's surface that to-day can serve as a secure and permanent home for our refugees.

Let us, with our funds, make possible the wider opening of the doors of Palestine. They can be kept as wide open as the moneys which we contribute to the Keren Hayesod will permit. Let us, therefore, be liberal in our subscriptions to the Keren Hayesod.

AGUDAH CONFERRENCE OUTLINES POLICY ON PALESTINE

Cracow.—Among the resolutions adopted by the Conference of the Central Council of the Agudas Yisroel Organization recently concluded here, is one dealing with the work in Palestine, which says:

The Central Council calls upon every Agudist to acquire during the month of Tishri at least one square metre of land in Palestine for himself and the male members of his household, to the value of one shilling. The names of all purchasers will be entered in the Sepher Hajishub. The land so purchased will be administered by the Palestine Central Office of the Agudas Yisroel. The first settlement of the Agudas Yisroel in Palestine will be named "Agudas Yisroel." A building will be erected in Jerusalem to serve as the headquarters of the Agudas Yisroel in Palestine, but primarily for the purpose of a first home for Agudist immigrants to Palestine.

LITHUANIAN JEWS SEEK PALESTINE PERMITS

Jerusalem.—Hundreds of skilled and unskilled labourers in Lithuania who believe they have every chance of gaining their livelihood in Palestine, and at the same time be of benefit to the country, have applied recently to the Zionist office in Kovno for permits to enter Palestine, according to telegraphic advice received by the Palestine Zionist Executive. Some of these labourers and craftsmen are in possession of from £250 to £500 and are prepared to bring their machines and equipment with them.

It is reported further that many persons of school age are applying daily to the Zionist authorities, seeking information as to enrollment in the Secondary Hebrew School of Palestine.

PALESTINE ADVANCING TOWARD A HAPPY FUTURE, DUTCH CONSUL DECLARES

The Hague.—Palestine is advancing towards a happy future, has possibilities for developing larger industries and will become an important market for Dutch Indian products, declared Mr. Jacobus Kahn, Dutch Consul in Jerusalem, who is now visiting his home here.

CANADA CLOSES DOORS TO JEWISH REFUGEES

New York.—The headquarters of the I.C.A. in Paris have been informed by the Canadian government that no more Jewish refugees will be admitted into Canada. The Canadian government originally promised to admit 5,000. The Montreal correspondent of the Jewish Telegraphic Agency has confirmed this report.

The invitation, extended by President-elect Calles of Mexico in an interview granted to a representative of the Jewish Telegraphic Agency in New York, to the Jewish refugees to come and settle in Mexico caused a storm in many Mexican papers as the Mexican press takes a negative stand on the matter. So, for instance, the Mexican "Excelsior" says editorially, "In spite of the fact that Jews are workers, savers, intelligent and able, we do do not consider that this immigration would be the most desirable for this country. They would gain con-

One of the many saddening results of the great war was the birth of whirlwind drives and campaigns. Since then little of public concern that needs combined effort can be done or attempted without noise, fireworks, fanfare, speakers in superlatives and professional makers of a momentary, giddy generosity that causes men to pledge madly in haste and repent at leisure. When these spasms of rivalry in pledging are over, and voices have been recovered and perspiration dried, any sensible leader in philanthropic whirlwinds would sell the whole slew of pledges at a big discount for hard cash in hand. Then comes such a ridiculous situation as Montreal Jews now face, the campaign to collect pledges, that depressing outcome of stimulating men to pledge in the first place, either more than they can afford to give, or more than they are willing to give when the moment for the actual giving comes.

In Buffalo more than one-third of the money pledged to the Federation for 1924 is still unpaid. Those who pledged to pay later have been besieged by statement after statement sent at the expense of postage and of taking social workers from their regular routine to become for the time being clerical help. Meantime the Jewish citizen is being reminded that a man who makes a promise to the Federation makes it to the poor; that he should regard his promise to pay as a debt of honour and his neglect to pay as a great offense against charity. This is the only recourse open to a charitable organization unless it wants to resort to force to make a pledge turn to money.

It would be bad taste to suggest, for example, that some people, wishing to buy an honor cheaply in public, will resort to making a pledge with only a lukewarm idea of ever really letting the money out of sight. Or to say plainly that these people regard a business debt as one thing and a debt to the charities as something much less binding. Or that a man of usual good sense loses his head in trying to compete with his acquaintances in pledging a sum that looks good now, suffer though it may by the time the Federation gets it.

Of course these people are at fault and clutter up the machinery of philanthropy everywhere, in Montreal, Buffalo or any other city. But the latest style in obtaining the money for charity (while incomparably superior to handkerchief giving and not to be spoken of with it) is at the root of the matter. Men are being educated to give by pledges of easy installments and to pledge easily when at fever pitch under the pressure of hired enthusiasm. It is not surprising then that their pledges, over-inflated, become deflated as the hot air escapes over a period of time.

They should be educated in quiet giving for a cause that is the worthiest in the world. They should not be hectored into pledging some sum that is obviously out of proportion to their incomes; a large, wild-eyed future promise being discarded in favour of a cautious, reasonable sum likely to materialize as is. And last but not least, managers of Federation finances everywhere can learn from the canny Keren Hayesod committee whose campaign for Zionist funds in November is to be for cash. There will be no charge, telephone or C. O. D. orders, please. That is the only way.

The thirty Galician rabbis who issued a joint ban against the appearance in synagogues of Jewish girls, sleeveless and low-necked, and blamed them with all the misfortunes that have befallen Jewry, have suffered heavily themselves, seriously and otherwise at the hands of the pen-pushers of the Jewish press. There has been a great rush to condemn these gentlemen and to defend the ladies. The outstanding contribution on the subject, in bulk at least, is that offered by the Kansas City Jewish Chronicle. The writer is a person of vast liberality. According to him there are Jewish women who don't wear sheitels and who bob their hair but who are very, very good and noble Jewish women, just the same. He claims that a woman can be as good and virtuous without sleeves and collars as she can be in garments that cover her like a sack. She may even smoke a cigarette and still be a good woman, not immoral at all. More than that, the writer has a beautiful faith that "no matter what Jewish women do in dress or deportment they will always be as inspiring and clean-minded as was Jewish womanhood for thousands of years." From the depths of his tolerance and profundity he comes shouting the question: has the length of a woman's skirt and sleeves anything to do with the misfortunes of Jewry? And the answer, betraying the scholar and the gentleman, comes in a resounding and capitalised NO. We transmit it here for all men to see and tell about. f.f.c.

POETS' CORNER

THE FAIRY FIDDLER

When in the gloaming,
With whirr of wings,
The birds come homing,
And elfin things
Begin their roaming,
And caperings,

By forest-edges,
And silent hill,
By rocky ledges,
And meadows still,
By dusky hedges,
And rippling rill;

O then the fairy
Fiddler unseen,
Clad in his airy
Coat of gold sheen,
With footsteps wary,
Parades the green.

The wee folks hearing
Their fiddler play,
From wood and clearing,
And far away,
With swift careering
That scorns delay,

Arrive, and round him,
Dance in a ring;
Their spells have bound him,
And charmed each string;
Think they surround him,
Like gnats awing.

Long tasks they levy,
Yet he complies,
Till night's bright bevy
Of stars arise,
And sleep falls heavy
On human eyes.

Montreal. —J. C. M. Duncan.

Welcoming the Dawn

I wake at dawn to grateful chirping of the birds,
And straightway blend my voice with theirs in praise.
And as a little child with arms outstretched
To greet the sun,
So I stretch mine
In fervent longing for the breaking light.

Leaving behind me darkness and the tears of night
I step across the threshold of dawn's portal dim,
And see, the light is here, the morn has come
With promises untold of strength and deed.
Like a wide ocean, all before me lies
A day of tireless work, with inward peace well blessed.

Great tenderness is hid within the hush of dawn,
As quietly it opens wide the gate to lead me forth
From night into the fullness of the day!
—Katherine Aagaard, in the Christian Science Monitor.

Hills

I never loved your plains!—
Your gentle valleys,
Your drowsy country lanes
And bleached alleys.

I want my hills!—the trail
That scorns the hollow,—
Up, up the ragged shale
Where few will follow;

Up, over wooded crest
And mossy bowlder,
With strong thigh, heaving chest,
And swinging shoulder.

So let me hold my way,
By nothing halted,
Until, at close of day,
I stand, exalted.

High on my hills of dream—
Dear hills that know me!
And then, how fair will seem
The lands below me!

How pure, at vesper-time,
The far bells chiming!
God, give me hills to climb,
And strength for climbing!

—Arthur Guiterman.

Acknowledge benefits, but never revenge injuries.—Confucius.

The Shepherd Boy.

Like some vision olden
Of far other time,
When the age was golden,
In the young world's prime,
Is thy soft pipe ringing,
O lonely shepherd boy:
What song art thou singing,
In thy youth and joy?

Or art thou complaining
Of thy lowly lot,
And thine own disdaining,
Dost ask what thou hast not?
Of the future dreaming,
Weary of the past,
For the present scheming,
All but what thou hast?

No, thou are delighting
In thy summer home;
Where the flowers inviting
Tempt the bee to roam;
Where the cowslip, bending
With its golden bells,
Of each glad hour's ending
With a sweet chime tells.

All wild creatures love him
When he is alone;
Every bird above him
Sings its softest tone,
Thankful to high Heaven,
Humble in thy joy,
Much to thee is given,
Lowly shepherd boy.

—Laetitia Elizabeth Landon.

RIDDLE-DE-DEE!

What reptiles appear good at arithmetic?—Adders.

When are buildings like birds?—When they have "wings."

What has a comb but no hair?—A rooster.

What has ribs but no trunk?—An umbrella.

What has a trunk but no ribs?—A tree.

What is a poor friend better than a rich one?—Because a friend in need is a friend indeed.

Why is a dog with a broken leg like a boy at arithmetic?—Because he puts three and carries one.

What has a head but no face?—A match.

What has a face but no head?—A watch.

Why did the cart wheel?—Because the wheel spoke.

When is T like a boxer?—When it is in training.

Why is the letter B lazy?—Because it is always in bed and never in work.

THE INDIAN PEACE-PIPE

An old legend about the first Indian peace pipe concerns the Indian tribes of O-job-weh, Ottawah and Pottawatomie who were one time at war. So deadly were the foes, that if a member of one tribe had spied one of the other, it would have meant a battle to the death. Now it chanced one night that the three mighty chiefs of these nations each went out into the forest for a few hours of meditation and rest. It was very dark, so none of the three observed the moccasined approach of the other.

In the centre of the forest stood a giant oak tree with four enormous roots, one growing toward the north, one toward the south, one east and one west. Now as the three chiefs came upon the tree, each from the direction of his own land, they paused between the high root walls of the tree and each prepared himself a bed on his side without the knowledge of anybody else's being there.

The three slept till dawn when an angel messenger appeared and wakened them from their slumbers. The angel ordered the Pottawatomie to fill his pipe and light it. When the old chief was told to pass his pipe on to an enemy on the next side of the tree, he was filled with surprise and anger. But one did not dare dispute the command of an angel from the Great Spirit, so the chief gave the pipe to his neighbour, who smoked it, then offered it to the third. When each in turn had smoked the Pipe of Peace, they agreed that old hatreds were forgotten and that the Indian wars were at an end. Then the angel said that some day a white man should come to fill the gap on the fourth side of the tree and that the three tribes must extend the Peace Pipe to him in order that his followers would be at home among their red brothers.

The oak tree, since that day, has been the national tree of the three Indian tribes. Eventually the white man came, but not for many centuries, for this all happened nineteen hundred years ago.—Exchange.

SEEK TO REVIVE ANCIENT JEWISH COLONY IN CHINA

One of the most interesting antiquarian discoveries in China was that of the remains of a Jewish colony in Kaifeng, capital of the Province of Honan. When first seen in the seventeenth century there are said to have been persons still remaining whose features showed marked Jewish characteristics, but at the present time there is nothing to show but a few relics of the old synagogue.

A society was formed in Shanghai about twenty years ago to send a special expedition into the Province to study these remnants and see if anything could be done to revive the ancient colony. This society is now showing renewed signs of life, and hopes shortly to start the projected expedition on its way. Adolph S. Oko, librarian of the Hebrew Union College, Cincinnati, O., has volunteered to head this enterprise.

LEMBERG JEWS IN PANIC AS RESULT OF BOMB OUTRAGE

The bomb thrown at the Polish President when he was on a visit in Lemberg on September 5, as was already reported, proved to be a harmless missile and still the outrage created a great deal of feeling among the population. It will be remembered that a Jew by the name of Stanislav Steiner was arrested as the perpetrator of the crime and was handed over to a court-martial. The fact that the suspect was a Jew was taken up immediately by the anti-semitic press, but the authorities tried to suppress any possible outbreak as a result of that. The court-martial later decided that it was not competent to deal with the matter and sent the case over to the civil courts. Steiner's wife and father-in-law, who were arrested with him, were released and it is very likely that the civil court will also exonerate him. A warrant may be issued against the Ukrainian Revolutionary Committee, which is said to have admitted its guilt in the matter.

The Ministry has issued a statement to the effect that even if Mr. Steiner is found guilty it will not hold the Zionists or the Jews responsible for the crime, and promises to suppress all anti-semitic agitation in connection with the incident. The Jewish Parliamentary Party has issued a protest against the action of the authorities in Pshevorski, in forbidding the Jews to take part in the welcome to the President in consequence of the Lemberg affair. The President received a cordial welcome from the Jewish population at Zlotcheff.

THE JEWISH COLONIES IN ARGENTINE

According to the latest statistical data, the Jewish population of the Argentine colonies under the management of the Jewish Colonization Association now numbers 5,360 families, composed of 30,725 persons. There are 2,650 actual working colonists, who, with their families, make up a population of 19,280; the remaining 11,445 consist of agricultural laborers and their families. The colonists who have received their title-deeds, having entirely paid off their debts, number 420. This result can be achieved after not less than eight years' work.

The ground owned by the I. C. A. in Argentine covers an area of 1,458,000 acres. In 1923 the colonists sowed 557,859 acres, as against 485,000 acres in the previous year. The harvest was of the value of $4,587,591. The cattle belonging to the colonists last year was of the value of $8,093,884. Dairy-farming was greatly increased during the past year, so that milk sold during the year brought in the net amount of $1,037,834.

"FRUIT OF LABOUR IN PALESTINE IS FREEDOM," SAYS MAURICE SAMUEL, WORLD-FAMOUS JEWISH AUTHOR AND ZIONIST

I went to Palestine to see what is happening to the Jewish spirit out there. I went out to ask, first and foremost, what do Jews become in Palestine? And the answer is: They become free men. If there is any dignity, true dignity, in Jewish life, if the word Jew carries with it a sense of ancient and incorruptible worth, if it implies not only inherited greatness, but greatness of to-day and greatness of time to come, it is by virtue of the infinite bounty of the Homeland. It is ours as the body is the soul's. As speech implies the tongue and as sight implies the eye, so does Judaism imply Palestine.

Palestinian merchants were greatly surprised by the issuance of the government orders which introduce a higher tariff on numerous articles imported to Palestine from abroad. The merchant delegation will appear before Sir Gilbert Clayton, civil secretary of the Palestinian government, now acting High Commissioner in the absence of Sir Herbert Samuel, and will ask for the postponement of the date when the ordinance goes into effect.

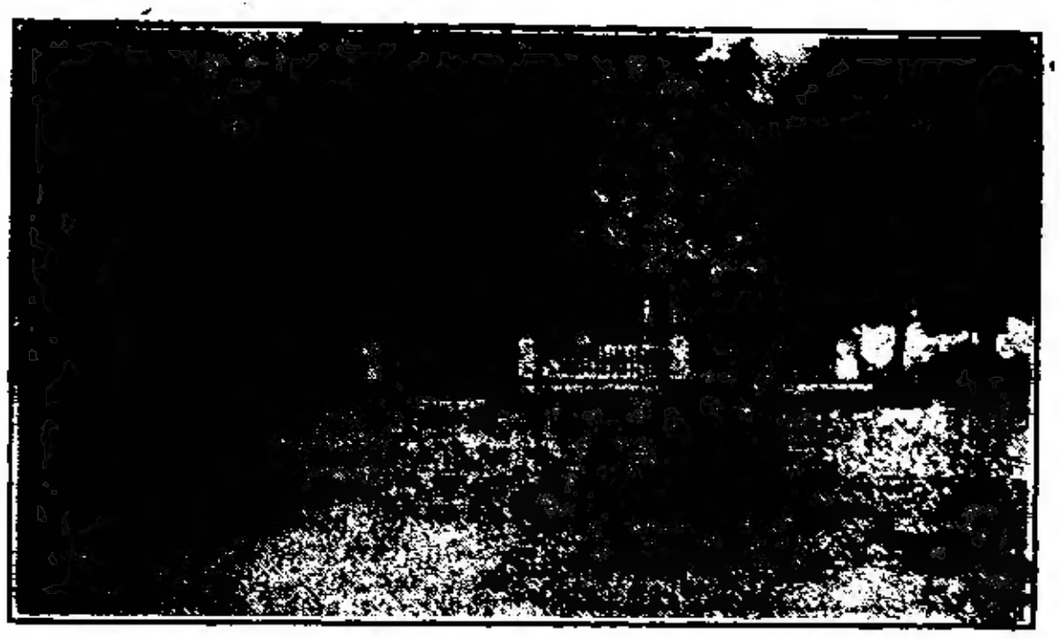
REPORT ON SUMMER ACTIVITIES FOR THE MOTHERS' AND BABES' SUMMER REST HOME

The third year of the Mothers' and Babes' Summer Rest Home of the Hebrew Maternity Aid Society closed on Thursday, September 18. It accommodated approximately 20 per cent. more than last year.

Owing to the unseasonable weather during the month of June, the cottage opened June 30, two weeks later than previous years and closed September 18.



Mothers' and Babes' Summer Rest Home

It accommodated an extra group, making six groups in all.

The kosher kitchen was operated according to the strictly Jewish dietary laws, and there were blessings of the bread, and Friday night candle blessing of the candles. There was a picnic for each group, with prizes for winners of races and games. Saturday night concerts with recitations, folk-songs, piano and victrola selections, refreshments, and to encourage cleanliness, a prize was awarded to the mother who kept her room cleanest during her stay at the cottage.

Jewish books, literature and numerous story books were provided for both mothers and children.

There were 56 mothers and 132 children. About sixty families were disappointed.

Among the visitors at the Rest Home during the summer were Rabbi and Mrs. M. S. Sivitz of Pittsburgh. The kitchen was in charge of Mrs. Sandler, and a volunteer worker, one of the committee of the Rest Home.

Miss Betty Bockner was the graduate nurse in charge.

Dr. Brenner, of Bronte, attended all cases without remuneration.

Friends assisted with cars.

The Star Fresh Air Fund granted $600.00. Others contributed in cash or merchandise.

PIONEER JEWS LEAVE TORONTO

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Loeser, who are going to live in Buffalo, were pioneers in the Jewish community here. Mrs. Loeser was president for 26 years of the Ladies' Montefiore Benevolent Society. There were neither Victorian nor city nurses in Toronto and Mrs. Loeser and her co-workers, Mrs. A. D. Benjamin and the late Mrs. Streamer, took care of charity cases and performed duties now undertaken by nurses. Mrs. Loeser was with the Federation of Charities, which gradually developed, until last year. She has two sons in Buffalo, Leo and Sidney; one son Irwin in Cleveland and several grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Loeser are among the earliest members of the Holy Blossom Synagogue and belong to various organizations.

STANDARD

The Yiddish theatrical season opened several weeks ago at the Standard Theater and the company have in their repertoire an extensive selection of comedies, dramas, musical operettas, and also the classics of the Yiddish stage.

For the coming Friday evening, Saturday matinee and evening, will be shown a comedy by Sam Auerbach, called "A Girl with Conditions."

SHEA'S

Shea's Theatre programme this week presents as a headline attraction, Spain's wonder dancers, the Canainos. Neville Fleeson, composer of "The Gingham Girl" and "Blossom Time," comes to vaudeville, assisted by the singing comedienne, Ann Greenway, in an offering called "Samples." A satire on "Rain" is included in their musical tidbits. Harry Kahne is a master mind and the keynote of his wonderful exhibition in concentration. Walter Brewer is called "The Jolly Jester" and his stories and patter are for laughing purposes only. Stanelli and Douglas are a fair example of London's young men. The Kismet sisters are equilibrists, and Perry Corwey is a famous musical clown. Maryon Vadie and Ota Gygi, in their beautiful dances and classical music accompaniments, with Mary Izant at the piano, will head the bill at Shea's the week of November 3rd. Wellington Cross, the Hickey Brothers, Bert Lahr and Mercedes, Ryan, Weber and Ryan, and Carlton Emmy and his Mad Wags will comprise the bill.

EMPIRE

Burlesque's main dependence—clean comedy and brilliant wit—has been generously supplied in "Step This Way," the newest offering of Columbia Burlesque's, which will come to the popular Empire Theatre week of October 27. I. B. Hamp, who has been seen as a featured comedian with the Jacobs & Jermon shows for the past three seasons, again has been assigned a stellar role.

Hamp has chosen for himself the impersonation of a delightful Swede character, for he not only plays the star part but supplies the lines from which the action of the burlettas are drawn. Fred Binder, another proven success on the Columbia circuit, is seen as the chief support for Hamp. Between the two of them many novel situations in comedy have been created and where the laughs are they get 'em.

Al Golden, who has made a creditable name for himself, has been given the "straight" man assignment and there are few that present better-dressed characters of his kind. Arthur Young is another prominent male member of the cast.

Gertrude Beck, soubrette, will bring her pretty blonde personality to bear on numerous and entertaining occasions. The La Van Sisters will be seen in vaudeville offerings as well as many of the situations that are developed during the course of the performance.

Of equal interest to the devotees of burlesque is the vaudeville offered by this production. The Six Rockets, the especially imported acrobat act, featuring six fair European tumblers; songs by the beautiful and talented prima donna, Bernice La Barr; singing and dancing by Fox and Vanetta and numerous musical interludes by chorus and principals provide many pleasing interludes.

"Step This Way" has a beaming bevy of eighteen chorus girls who have been costumed in keeping with gorgeous gowns and latest modes of the women principals. Each one has been especially chosen for her own particular charms. They play a prominent part in the fourteen scenes which have been drawn from all the interesting quarters of the globe.

JEWISH REFUGEES EVACUATED FROM RUMANIA

Since May, 1920, ten thousand Jewish refugees have been evacuated from Rumania, mainly through the agency of the Jewish Colonization Association. About three years ago there were nearly 45,000 Jewish refugees in Rumania. Because of the emigration restrictions in the United States the work of the I. C. A. has been greatly delayed and the Rumanian Government had to be asked several times for an extension in the time of evacuation. The period was now extended to January 1, 1925, and the work is being rushed to complete the evacuation. Out of the number evacuated during the past year, 2,800 went to the United States, 2,160 to Canada, 1,100 to South America, 375 to Palestine and 175 to other countries. About 3,400 left the country without any outside assistance, while the others were all assisted by the I. C. A.

Professor Salomon Kalischer, a famous physicist, passed away at Berlin, at the age of 79. The deceased was closely related to Rabbi Zebi Hirsh Kalischer, the famous Rabbi of Thorn who is regarded as the originator of the Hobebe Zion movement, during the latter half of the last century. Professor Kalischer was professor at the Technical High School of Berlin and was the author of many scientific works. He was also for a time president of the Federation of Jewish Communities in Germany.

ATTACKS ON JEWS IN AUSTRIA AND HUNGARY

In Wiener Neustadt, Austria, anti-Semites threw gas bombs into a theatre where a Jewish audience was being shown a moving picture of which the Jew-baiters disapproved, the Jewish Morning Journal reports from Vienna. Similar attacks were made on a synagogue in Shentes, Hungary.

The Hungarian government has refused to allow a large number of Jewish students who wished to go abroad and study permission to leave Hungary on the ground that they are of military age.

DR. HERTZ, CHIEF RABBI OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE, IN HIS NEW YEAR MESSAGE

"Our emigrant brethren, fleeing from famine, racial hatred and religious fanaticism, find the doors of the United States closed to them. The masses of our brethren are again scattered to the four winds. In strange, distant lands, the Latin-American countries, the only countries open for our refugee brethren, grave religious dangers await the newcomers. In these countries there is no organized Jewish life; only Marranoism is to be found. Often, the earlier Jewish settlers have totally abandoned Judaism.

"The general outlook on the situation of the Jews sharpens our vision to the supreme task which faces our people," Rabbi Hertz concludes.

WITH THE ZIONISTS IN CANADA

Saskatoon, Sask.

On last Yom Kippur an appeal was made in the local synagogue on behalf of the land fund campaign and $320 collected.

A committee consisting of Nathan W. Shaffer, LL.B., president of the Zionist organization, and H. Beckerman are collecting the money. Fifty dollars was realized from the plate (Kaaroh) at the entrance into the synagogue Yom Kippur eve.

Dauphin, Man.
Dr. S. Shapiro's Work for the Keren Hayesod

Dr. S. Shapiro, who recently arrived in Canada from Palestine, was here Yom Kippur, representing the Zionist organization of Canada. His appeal for the Keren Hayesod resulted in $330 paid up in cash the day after Yom Kippur and forwarded to headquarters, Montreal.

Kamsack, Sask.

Dr. S. Shapiro of Montreal was a guest for the first days of Succoth. His appeal in the synagogues on behalf of the Keren Hayesod amounted to $500.

Felix Kahn, seventy-six years old, veteran stone manufacturer and widely known philanthropist, died at his home in Cincinnati, following an illness of two weeks. Death was due to complications brought on by advancing age. At the time of his death Mr. Kahn was president of the Estate Company of Hamilton. He was born in Ingweiler, Alsace, France, in 1848. He left that country with his parents at an early age.

Community Week will be held in Toronto beginning November 4. His Honour Lieutenant-Governor Cockshutt, His Worship Mayor Hiltz and the City Council are giving their assistance to the four-day campaign, to raise $450,000 for forty-seven charitable and social service bodies.

Prior to 1919 these organizations, such as the Aged Men's and Women's Homes, day nurseries, House of Providence, Children's Aid, etc., each had to raise annually its own funds.

The Federation for Community Service was formed and makes its appeal each fall for these bodies.

Two thousand six hundred volunteer citizens will give their time and energy to community week. Aldermen in the different wards of the city will be vice-chairmen of the campaign committees.

ON THE TRAIL OF THE MOOSE

Have you followed the trail of the lordly moose through the flaming forests of the north and heard him call from the barrens, or tracked the fleet-footed deer over newly-fallen snow, with the keen wind in your face, while the trees cracked in the frost and the whole forest seemed vibrant with life? If you have, you know the real joy of the Canadian autumn, which is never found on the city's streets nor in pulsing marts of commerce, but only in the clean open spaces and the fragrant silent woods.

Now that the leaves are turning crimson and gold you will begin to dream of the little hunting camp in the far north woods, of sparkling dewy dawns, tramps through the fallen leaves, blazing camp fires, wondrous autumn nights and the bed of balsam boughs, for there is no tonic in all the world for a tired brain and a weary soul like a hunting trip in the northern wilds.

Canadian National Railways tap the choicest of the solitary hunting districts of Northern Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, and if you are going off on a hunt this year go to the nearest ticket office and procure a copy of "Hunting in Canada," which contains full information as to the various districts, accommodation and guides. Then pack up your old rifle, sweater and togs and be off.

LEAGUE MANDATES COMMISSION TO REVIEW PALESTINE

It has now become definitely known that at the next meeting of the Permanent Mandates Commission of the League of Nations which is scheduled to take place about the middle of this month, Palestine will figure prominently on the agenda. The commission will receive two reports on the Administration of the country, one from Great Britain as the Mandatory Power responsible for carrying into effect the terms of the Mandate and the other from the World Zionist Organization as the Jewish Agency recognized in this Mandate.

The Mandates Commission, which has been established in accordance with Article 22 of the League Covenant, has already been for some time in existence, and has done much useful work in watching the administration of the territories under what are known as "B" and "C" Mandates—i. e., the ex-German territories in Africa and the Pacific Islands. On the other hand, the "A" Mandates—those for the ex-Turkish territories in Asia—did not begin to come technically within the purview of the Commission until the Mandates for Syria and Palestine became formally effective in the autumn of 1923. At the meeting of the Commission held in Geneva in the summer a summary verbal report on the situation in Palestine was rendered by the accredited British Representative, Mr. Ormsby-Gore, and was followed by a brief discussion. In accordance with the provisions of the League Covenant the British Government had duly sent to the League a more detailed report on the Administration of Palestine, but the Mandates Commission was not ready last summer to give Palestine more than a passing glance, and closer scrutiny was reserved for the autumn session, which is now about to take place.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENT BODY OPPOSES ANTI-SEMITISM

The president of the International Students' Federation has informed Dr. Lauterpacht, the president of the World Federation of Jewish Students, that if the Jewish students of Hungary and Poland are not admitted to the general student bodies of these countries, the student organizations of these two countries will be expelled from the international body. He explained further that the World Federation of Jewish Students as such could not be admitted to the International because that body was constituted on a territorial basis but intimated that it is possible that it would be admitted as an exceptional body with the right of representation, but without the right to vote.
